

Allowing cell phone usage on commercial flights is a recipe for disaster. Flight crews and passengers are under enough stress as it is without the confusion of a bunch of folks talking on their cell phones. Myself being a pilot, I am not convinced that cell phones, new technology or old, will not interfere with the on board Nav/Com equipment.